DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statements (IDSs) submitted on 12-19-00 and 10-01-03 were filed in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statements have been considered by the examiner.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because it lacks figure descriptions for Figs. 7A-1, 7A-2, 7B-1, 7B-2, 7C-1 and 7C-2.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it exceeds the 150 word limit, it is too long. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, 3-6, 8-11 and 15-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1, 3-6, 8-11, 15, 17-20 and 22-25 are indefinite because it is unclear what is meant by a “securities processing system.” Is such a system a method or more of a physical system, such as a computer or other similar apparatus. Clarification is required.

Claims 5 and 19 are also indefinite because in both claims, the phrase “the organization” lacks proper antecedent basis since this was the first occurrence thereof. The phrase “the identified critical issues” also lacks proper antecedent basis. Are such issues actually referring to the “assessment issues” of claim 1 or something different?

Claims 15-28 are indefinite because they claim a “system” however system is not clearly defined. It is unclear whether the Applicant is claiming a method or an apparatus. For example, claim 15 has language that claims a form, documentation, documents, etc., then it also has the steps of analyzing, formulating, prioritizing, developing, etc. If it is an electronic system, where is the hardware?

Claims 15-28 are also indefinite because it is unclear what is meant by “button.” Is such meant to represent a physical structure, or merely a computer icon?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed

- to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 1-28 are directed to non-statutory subject matter because they lack any reference to technology. The Patent Office has taken the position that claims lacking any reference to technology are “nothing more than [an] abstract idea which is not tied to any technological art and is not a useful art as contemplated by the Constitution.” Ex parte Bowman, 61 USPQ2d 1669, 1671 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 2001)(Unpublished). Although the Bowman case is not precedential, it is cited herein merely for its content and reasoning. The Examiner suggests amending the claims to include some form of technology, such as a computer, etc. in the body of the claim. It is not sufficient to merely put such technology in the preamble.

Claims 15-28 are directed to non-statutory subject matter because they contain functionally descriptive material that is not embedded in any form of tangible medium. The system claimed has language such as “online” and “processing data tool program,” etc. however there is no express computer executable code or computer executable instructions, such are merely implied. Without such express instructions, there is no nexus between the “system” and the steps it is charged with performing.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Harris et al., Hawkins et al., Nevo et al., Keiser et al., Black et al., Minton, Rickard et al., Segal et al., Belzberg, Kalmus et al., Musmanno et al., Hawkins et al. Kenton, Beacham and Crosby patents and applications disclose various types of electronic trading and securities systems.
